Looking at your watch and forgetting time

In this update, the team successfully combined the newest interactive functions with intuitive handling and state of the art design. «Today a glance at your watch is associated with deadlines, responsibilities and stress. We want people to be reacquainted with a state of wonderment and relaxation, when they look at their watches - and at the same time understand the role that time plays in our universe» – the designers of the app. Especially children and teenagers can gain a fascination for time and space through the app. The Cosmic-Watch has achieved a presentation that is worth taking a moment to enjoy.

A development that moves the World

The Cosmic-Watch was developed by the Designer Eduardo Santana, and the innovations and marketing specialist Markus Humbel. The Swiss duo is united by friendship and a common fascination for the relationships between the earth, time and space. Together with the programmer Reto Spörri and a Passionate team they developed the Cosmic-Watch into a marketable product that literally, moves the world.
